ABOUT THIS HANDBOOK

This Handbook provides information to help you advocate on behalf of urban schools in Iowa, both at the Capitol during the legislative session and in local districts throughout the year. No one is more effective at influencing legislation that helps schools than local leaders sharing their practical, real-life stories, experiences, data and solutions.

ABOUT UEN

Urban Education Network of Iowa (UEN) began in 1985 when superintendents of seven large school districts formed a coalition to address school finance and other legislative issues. The organization incorporated in 1993 as a nonprofit organization and now includes twenty-four of Iowa's largest districts.

Common Characteristics of Urban School Districts:

- Population density
- Cultural, social and economic diversity
- Broad ethnic representation
- Extensive transportation system
- UEN membership is open to districts with two or more comprehensive high schools and/or 10,000 or more students.
- Additionally, UEN membership can be extended to Iowa school districts with 3,000 or more students that meet at least 3 of the following 5 criteria: 40% or more of the student population identified as free/reduced-price lunch eligible, 10% or more of students with individual education plans (IEPs), 10% or more of students receiving English-Learner services, 1% or more of students identified as immigrants, and 75% or fewer students identified as white.

Purpose Statement:

The UEN keeps the state's lawmakers, the media, and the public informed about the progress and problems in our state's largest and most diverse schools. The organization does this through advocacy, legislation, communications and research.

The UEN also helps to build capacity in urban education by facilitating connections between member districts to improve student academic performance and narrow achievement gaps, improve professional development; and strengthen leadership, governance, and management.

In addition, joint efforts with other state organizations and policymakers extend the UEN's influence and effectiveness outside member school districts to the broader community that will ultimately benefit from the contributions of today's urban students.

UEN LEGISLATIVE ANALYST

Your Legislative Analyst at the Statehouse represents the interests of UEN members throughout the legislative process and with rulemaking and executive branch actions throughout the year. We can help you prepare talking points and accompanying data specific to your district and edit letters to legislators or to your local paper. We're glad to help you answer questions from legislators and provide resources for your board to better prepare them for advocacy. You can help us by keeping us informed of contacts and relationships you and your team members have with legislators.

UEN STEERING COMMITTEE

The UEN Steering Committee meets in the capacity of the organization's board of directors, and is composed of eight representatives from the original UEN charter member districts, made up of four superintendents and four school board members. Steering Committee members serve a four-year term on a rotating schedule. Additionally, a superintendent or board member of each additional member district is also invited to attend meetings and each UEN member district has a vote.

UEN LEGISLATIVE WORKGROUP

An ad hoc Legislative Workgroup consisting of representatives from both charter and associate UEN member districts come together to draft UEN's legislative priority language for discussion and approval by the Steering Committee.

ABOUT UEN MEMBERS

A FEW FACTS

During the 2024-25 school year, the UEN Membership was made up of 10 of Iowa's largest districts in urban communities (all with two or more high schools), along with the 14 UEN additional member districts. Together, the 24 UEN member districts:

- Include nearly 388 school attendance centers, about 30% of Iowa's total PK-12 attendance centers, and specifically:
 - 52 High Schools
 - 62 Jr. High/Middle Schools
 - 247 Elementary Schools
 - 20 Stand-alone Preschools (plus over 250 other preschools either stand-alone, contained within elementaries or in collaboration with community partners and non-public schools). UEN districts operate 51% of PK programs in Iowa.
 - 18 Academies, STEAM, STEM, Fine Arts, Alternative or Special Education schools, plus a number of Online Learning Academies
- Enroll 43% of Iowa's 504,287 PK-12 students
- Educate 67% of Iowa's PK-12 non-white students, including 83% of Iowa's Black or African American students, 71% of Iowa's Asian students and 59% of Iowa's Hispanic/Latino students
- Enroll 70% of Iowa's English Learner (EL) students
- Serve 51% of Iowa's K-12 low-income students (UEN enrollment of Free and Reduced Lunch eligible students is 50% of total UEN enrollment, compared to the statewide average of 42%)
- Provide Special Education Services to 45% of Iowa students with Individualized Education Plans (IEPs)
- Employ 42% of Iowa's PK-12 certified staff
- Employ 33% of Iowa's school principals
- Contract with many other school districts and post-secondary partners, both public and private, to educate students (i.e., preschool, special education, talented and gifted, career and technical education, online learning, college-level coursework, etc.)
- Address the challenges of changing demographics and student needs on a daily basis
- Identify and address major educational challenges such as student achievement, chronic absenteeism, teacher and administrator leadership, dropout prevention, career and technical as well as science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) programs, fine arts, facilities, finance, technology, early literacy and early childhood

UEN TOP PRIORITIES FOR 2026 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

PROPERTY TAX REFORM

UEN supports the following principles to guide property tax reform legislation:

1. preserve state general fund capacity to adequately fund Iowans' priorities, including a quality public education for all children,
2. retain local school board and voter authority to fund infrastructure, technology and school safety via PPEL, SAVE and Debt levies,
3. provide local school board authority to continue pre-reform voter-approved amounts (levies and total dollars anticipated) through transition periods, and
4. move toward a more transparent system, require clear and simple property tax statements, remove rollbacks, and provide clearly understood property valuations and TIF impacts on taxpayers.

The Tax Foundation's 2025 Study, "Securing Property Tax Relief in Iowa," supports some of Iowa's proposed legislation to limit levies rather than assessments, phase out of existing rollbacks, and suggests excluding new property in calculating levy limits and allowing voter overrides to limitations. These experts also encourage Iowa to:

1. incorporate inflation into the levy limit (not a fixed 2% growth limit, for example),
2. tie future limitations to legal taxing authority maximums and not to actual tax revenue in the prior year, "levy limits should neither force nor inhibit lower taxes by local governments", and
3. future limits should be recession-proof (tied to a baseline rather than a lower valuation if property values fall).

UEN does not support management fund limits without regard to local circumstances, which would usurp local control. Local taxpayers have the authority under Iowa Code § 24.27 to contest a school district's budget, including the management levy, through the county auditor and the State Appeal Board. Local voters can also replace school board members who exceed the community's tolerance for property taxes.

The current restriction to November bond elections spikes demand for providers, architects, bonders, and construction labor, while extending completion times, all of which increase costs to taxpayers. School boards should be given multiple options for bond election dates. Bond issues should be approved by a simple majority of voters (50% +1), rather than a super majority (60% +1), and only one vote should be required regardless of the levy amount, up to the $4.05 maximum levy.

QUALITY PRESCHOOL

Iowa's preschool program, initiated with strong support from the business community nearly a decade ago, should generate 1.0 weighting for full-day programming, including early childhood instruction combined with wrap-around services and childcare for low-income and non-English speaking students. Districts must retain flexibility to offer a variety of program options, reflecting student and community needs and staffing capacity, including half-day and full-day preschool, or a combination of early childhood education and child care when necessary to provide a full-day environment to minimize transportation and workforce barriers.

Quality preschool programs deliver a proven return on investment for both student achievement and taxpayers, while also freeing up childcare slots for younger children. Full-day preschool allows parents to fully participate in the workforce. Plus, it is good for students. Six rigorous, long-term evaluation studies have found that children who participated in high-quality preschool programs were 25% less likely to drop out of school, 40% less likely to become a teen parent, 50% less likely to be placed in special education, 60% less likely to never attend college and 70% less likely to be arrested for a violent crime (Source: Education Commission of the States, <http://www.ecs.org/docs/early-learning-primer.pdf> Oct. 2014). Quality Preschool is one of the best prevention investments a state can make in supporting a quality workforce and saving taxpayers the expense of poor educational outcomes.

Additionally, schools should be allowed to use General Fund dollars or generate spending authority to pay for preschool expansion.

INVEST IN IOWA'S FUTURE: ADEQUATE FUNDING FOR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

The goals of public education, in addition to teaching basic skills, are to close achievement gaps, provide career exploration and work-based learning, fine arts, and extracurricular experiences to help students develop skills and find their passions. Quality education prepares all students for engaged citizenship, post-secondary study and/or credentialed workforce participation, to engage in a fulfilling, productive and prosperous life.

Adequate funding means public schools can meet student needs with robust program choices, individualized attention and better relationships via smaller classes. Inadequate funding combined with more mandates and categorical fund inflexibility reduces high-cost career and technical programs, fine arts, and optional programs that parents, students and stakeholders seek. Schools must hire and competitively compensate staff to nurture and challenge today's students. Iowans expect, and students deserve, top-notch public schools.

High-quality public schools provide the business community with a great recruitment and economic development tool. Funding levels should reflect Iowa citizens' recognition that education drives family decisions for where to live, work, and go to school in every community.

Schools are subject to market economics; adequate funding and more flexibility are necessary to address teacher and other staff shortages in Iowa's competitive employment environment.

Iowa's funding formula includes meaningful and significant categorical funds that support teachers, school improvement and students. UEN supports adequate and timely Supplemental State Aid (SSA), at least meeting the inflation rate. Funding should be set predictably, timely, sustainably and equitably. Continued progress on minimizing inequity within the formula is important. The expanded range of Teacher Salary Supplement (TSS), from a low of $713 to a high of $3,360 per pupil, is a 471% deviation, one of the largest per pupil inequities impacting school district general funds.

OTHER UEN PRIORITIES FOR 2026 LEGISLATIVE SESSION

TEACHER, ADMINISTRATOR, STAFF SHORTAGE

State and local leaders must generate enthusiasm for teaching by speaking about and treating educators with deserved respect, to both attract new teachers to Iowa and keep great Iowa teachers in classrooms. Adequate funding is essential for public schools to compete with the private sector in hiring and retaining experienced employees. All schools are facing a reduced pool of applicants, specifically shortages in special education, and for some districts, in nearly every content area.

New policies are needed to recruit, attract and retain educators that mirror our diverse students and communities, including; licensure flexibility, grow-your-own programs, internships and on-the-job programs, tuition support, and loan forgiveness programs. School districts should have flexibility and opportunity to provide training and CEU's toward needed licensure. Internship and apprenticeship programs should be simplified to allow school staff to easily implement and support participants. UEN supports the use of the management fund for recruitment and retention programs.

UEN maintains a commitment to quality and support for every teacher. Quality should not be sacrificed for fast-track credentialing programs. Content knowledge is critical, but so is pedagogy and instructional skill. Schools need adequate resources to provide clinical experiences, mentoring, modeling, instructional coaching, classroom management support and ongoing skill development after program completion and continuously on-the-job.

Good administrators are critical for teacher and student success. Pressures to limit administrative staff, salaries and expenses move paperwork and compliance burdens to teachers. Investments and mandates for increasing teacher and staff compensation require funding above and beyond the SSA rate. Compensation funding should be delivered in equitable ways to all school districts.

STUDENT OPPORTUNITY/POVERTY

Some students start school behind their peers, some by several grade levels. With the near doubling of poverty for young Iowa families over the last twenty years, the needs of many Iowa students are intense. Low socio-economic status is often a factor in achievement gaps for non-English speaking families, young families, and families with special needs living in poverty. It is challenging for many of these families to get their children to preschool or provide materials and experiences at home that promote literacy and learning.

Poverty is a predictor, but not a barrier to high student achievement, if schools have the staff and resources to work with students and their parents to support success. Iowa's funding formula should target funding based on the actual costs of closing achievement gaps evidenced in the Iowa Schools Performance Profile. The High-Needs Schools appropriation of $10 million annually, created as part of Gov. Branstad's Education Reform Act in 2013, not funded once since its inception, should finally be appropriated, beginning in the 2026-27 school year.

ENGLISH-LEARNER (EL) PROGRAMS AND SERVICES

Increased weighting commensurate with the costs of programs and support for students is needed to provide services for Iowa's English Learners. EL investments support the employment of appropriately credentialed staff, who are in short supply today. Many students begin their educational journey with EL services and eventually test as proficient, which is to be celebrated. They may still need support, however, as the content of textbooks becomes more difficult and assignments become more complicated. Ultimately, EL services build successful, engaged citizens, strong communities, and a strong workforce.

LITERACY

Literacy is the gateway skill to a successful life in the 21st Century. UEN supports state investment in improved literacy instruction with a solid research base. Such state investment starts with the understanding of student literacy needs and engagement, upon conversation with school leaders and educators to determine what the State should provide. UEN leaders are ready to be partners with the State to improve literacy outcomes. Schools depend on good training, materials and formative assessment tools, but a one-size-fits-all solution will not address all student needs, capacities and communities. State support must recognize and respect the local control required to identify and implement initiatives with fidelity.

HIGH SCHOOL PROGRAMMING

UEN supports the expansion of funding and educational opportunities for public school students, such as career and technical education (CTE) programs, apprenticeships, career pathways and college readiness experiences, including content standards relevant to their trajectory. Concurrent enrollment opportunities, providing college credits during high school, should be fairly funded, recognizing the costs and contributions of school districts and post-secondary partners in delivering value to Iowa families. High school content delivered through work-based learning demands that schools and the State find alternative ways to measure high school completion and competency. UEN also supports parent and student choice in meeting course and core graduation requirements.

SPECIAL EDUCATION IDENTIFICATION AND INSTRUCTION

UEN schools are committed to lowering achievement gaps for students with disabilities. Appropriate identification of students' disabilities and a full continuum of care associated with their needs will support academic growth and help students meet individual goals. A workable system gives access to all information needed by decisionmakers, to effectively serve students entitled under IDEA. State mandates should not exceed federal requirements for special education services.

Adequate SSA is required to keep pace with inflation for the cost of required services. Additional state investment is required to build and support a full continuum of care.

Iowa, unlike most other states in the nation, identifies and assigns special education services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA) to students with disabilities based on nonproficiency (failure to progress, performance below expectation, and discrepancy from peers) rather than diagnosed disability categories. Since Iowa's achievement gap for students with disabilities is significant, UEN supports a thorough, independent evaluative study to determine the effectiveness of our system. The evaluation should consider how child find/student identification for services related to disability used by other states might impact service delivery and student outcomes in Iowa. The evaluation should also consider whether Iowa's system of identification of disability based on discrepancy from a student's peers should include an element of categorical identification. If the evaluation results in policy recommendations, they should be vetted by stakeholders and accepted by federal authorities as IDEA-compliant before being implemented. Most importantly, such recommendations should be grounded in improved outcomes for students with disabilities.

Iowa's special education teacher shortage is profound. All students, including students with disabilities, are regular education students first, so all teachers need the skills to teach them. Recruiting existing teachers to meet complicated special education licensure is challenging. The job of special education instruction has never been harder. It is no surprise that special education teachers and experts are in short supply. This shortage leaves classrooms too crowded and compromises instruction. UEN supports recruitment strategies, incentives, and commensurate pay structures to address the special education teacher and staff shortage.

Iowa does not provide for a full continuum of needed care for students. Residential placements and all-day wrap-around therapeutic classrooms have long waiting lists with no services in the meantime. School districts with residential facilities generate special education funding for students in these facilities with IEPs. Other students without IEPs have significant behavioral and instructional needs, but no funding to provide them. Students with disabilities who have met graduation requirements continue to be served in schools as they develop life skills until age 21. These students count against a district's graduation rate, as they are not technically considered graduated with their 4- or 5-year cohort. Once students with IEPs meet their graduation requirements, they should be included as graduates in district accountability reporting.

EDUCATION SAVINGS ACCOUNTS (ESAS) AND SCHOOL CHOICE

The priority of public schools, chosen by well over 90% of families in Iowa, demands adequate funding and support. UEN opposes expansion of programs that redirect or designate additional taxpayer funds for private school, homeschool or other private services. Iowa law should set and maintain a rigorous accreditation process to provide and fund only high-quality private schools for Iowa students.

Private school programs receiving ESA for tuition should be subject to public oversight. UEN also supports the following correcting legislation:

- Categorical restrictions on funds generated for public schools by a district's count of resident students eligible for an ESA should be lifted. School Districts should be able to use this funding for any expenditure in the district to improve the quality of education and programs for students.
- If a student withdraws from the private school after the October 1 enrollment count date and enrolls in the public school, the student should be counted for funding or spending authority in the next semester and/or the coming fiscal year. The reallocation of the balance of that student's ESA would provide for the public program.
- The deadline for ESA application should be March 1, the same as open enrollment. Exceptions should be allowed for an ESA approved after the deadline for extreme circumstances, based, the same as open enrollment. Such a deadline would improve the ability of all schools to budget and staff wisely, allocating resources for the students they will serve.
- The appropriation to public schools for private school parent reimbursement of transportation should go directly to private schools, be added to the ESA or be offered as a tax credit for private school parents. Public schools should be relieved from the paperwork demands of this accounting function.

MENTAL HEALTH SERVICES

Iowa should continue to work to improve our child mental health system, including addressing pediatric mental health professional shortages. Mental illness among students and families impacts attendance, hampers a student's ability to complete work and contributes to achievement gaps. Educators are not and should not be trained providers of mental health care, nor do public schools have the capacity to meet the mental health needs of students under the existing school funding formula.

Iowa should engage in every opportunity to maximize school access to Medicaid claiming for health services for all students, not just students with disabilities. Iowa's school funding formula should include a categorical funding stream designated for mental health professionals and programs serving students, if schools and communities choose to provide those services at school. Needed services include case management and service coordination, transition support for students returning to school after a mental health placement, virtual mental health counseling, ongoing training to improve understanding of child social-emotional, behavioral and mental health needs, actionable classroom strategies to address student needs, and integration of mental health promotion, suicide prevention and coping skills into existing curriculum.

DISTRICT AUTHORITY

Home Rule in Iowa Code 274.3 requires the executive branch and the courts to interpret Iowa Code impacting schools and school boards and develop administrative rules with deference to local control. UEN members strongly believe the Legislature and Governor should focus efforts on flexibility rather than state-mandated one-size-fits-all action. State leaders are encouraged to work with local school leaders and educators on crafting public policy solutions that provide the flexibility necessary to implement changes intelligently, without increasing bureaucracy and compliance tasks, driving increased school administrative costs. Legislation must include common-sense timelines, allowing administrative rules to be developed, accreditation processes to be defined, and local school policies to be approved, before compliance is mandated. Too many state mandates have been effective on enactment, requiring school leaders to rewrite policy and implement changes before DE guidance is written and administrative rules are developed. This hurry-up-and-implement practice detracts from school improvement initiatives that require focus and energy, including key improvements in literacy and math.

SAFETY AND CYBERSECURITY

Escalated threats are increasingly present and devastating, including cybersecurity crimes. It is time to update funding sources to protect staff and students. Cybercriminals interrupt instructional delivery and school district operations, impacting students, families, staff and communities. Efforts should be coordinated to support school districts' cybersecurity needs, to create a consortium to curate, vet and establish professional services from which school districts may choose for cybersecurity solutions. The consortium should identify options to preserve the local decision-making authority of school districts in choosing safety solutions for their community schools.

Cybersecurity systems, services, improvements, training, staff, safe entrances, safe facilities and safety training to protect staff and students are all investments to minimize risk. The school district management fund was established to avoid risk and, as such, is an ideal funding stream to protect the district and taxpayers from the cost of cybersecurity litigation otherwise paid by property taxes. The state penny for school infrastructure (SAVE) and the physical plant and equipment levy (PPEL) should also be allowed for the entire range of safety and security expenses.

LEGISLATIVE TIMELINE

IOWA'S LEGISLATIVE SESSION

The first day of Iowa's Legislative Session is generally the second Monday of January each year. In General Election years (even numbered years), the Session is scheduled for 100 days, and in non-General Election years (odd numbered years), the Session is scheduled for 110 days, unless the Legislature votes to change those timelines.

These are the proposed timelines for the 2026 Legislative Session. The full Iowa Legislative Session Schedule can be found at <https://www.legis.iowa.gov/docs/current/publications/SESTT/current.pdf>.

- Session Begins – Monday, January 12, 2026
- Final Date for Bills out of their Chamber's Committee of Origin – Friday, February 20, 2026
- First Funnel Week – February 23-27, 2026 - Senate considers only Senate bills, etc. and House considers only House bills, etc.
- Final Date for Bills out of the Opposite Chamber – Friday, March 20, 2026 – Final date for Senate bills, etc. to be reported out of House Committees and House bills, etc. out of Senate Committees.
- Second Funnel Week – March 23-27, 2026 – Senate considers only House bills, etc. and House considers only Senate bills, etc.
- Final Per Diem – April 21, 2026 - When per diem expenses end and generally seen as the target for the end of the Session
- Each Session, legislators may change this timeline subject to agreement with the House and Senate

CONNECT WITH UEN

If you are in Des Moines during the legislative session and would like to connect, contact UEN's Legislative Analyst, Margaret Buckton, on her cell phone at (515) 201-3755, to learn about the activities at the Statehouse that day, get assistance connecting with your legislators or finding important committee meetings.

FINDING YOUR LOCAL LEGISLATORS

HOW TO FIND YOUR LOCAL LEGISLATORS

Search by School District:

If you don't know which legislators represent your school district, don't worry, you can look them up. Visit <https://www.legis.iowa.gov/legislators/find?district=>, then select your school district's name from the drop-down list. If you have a legislative information page on your school district's website, we recommend you consider posting this information which includes each legislator's contact information.

View Using an Interactive Map

You can also find your legislators using the Legislative Services Agency (LSA) interactive map. Visit <https://gis.legis.iowa.gov/FYL/index.html>, then type in your ZIP code, town, county or exact address.

Search By Committee Assignments

A list of legislative committees and committee members that closely influence education follow in the next few pages. The complete list of Legislative Committee assignments can be found on the Iowa Legislative website at <https://www.legis.iowa.gov/committees>

SENATE EDUCATION COMMITTEE

PURPOSE

This Committee considers all legislation related to Public and Private PK-12 education policy and laws impacting the Iowa Department of Education (DE), Board of Educational Examiners (BOEE), Department of Community Colleges, Regents Institutions, Area Education Agencies (AEA), special education, and early childhood. School funding bills may start in this Committee or in the Appropriations Committee. This Committee also approves the Governor's appointees to key Executive Branch positions such as the State Board of Education and Director of the Iowa Department of Education.

EDUCATION APPROPRIATIONS SUBCOMMITTEE

PURPOSE

This Committee reviews prior year budgets and drafts and approves a bill including Education Appropriations impacting the DE, AEAs, Community Colleges, Regents Universities, Early Childhood and some line item appropriations impacting school district funding and other education entities. This committee does not initiate the bill for State Supplemental Assistance (SSA), the per pupil amount which determines formula funding. That legislation typically starts in the full Appropriations Committee.

HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

PURPOSE

This Committee is primarily responsible for the state budget. Members approve any bill with an appropriation that comes from another Committee or is referred to Appropriations from the floor or from the other chamber. Appropriations bills can originate in this Committee, too, such as the Standings Appropriations bill which includes the funding for the school foundation formula. The most important decision for school funding, the increase in state supplemental assistance (SSA), which is the per pupil percentage increase in the formula, traditionally starts in this Committee, too.

WHY ADVOCACY MATTERS

WHAT IS ADVOCACY?

Advocacy is about building support for an issue to inform and influence those who make policy decisions. Effective advocacy can be defined as “gentle persuasion applied relentlessly”.

IS ADVOCACY PART OF MY JOB?

Student success depends on effective advocacy for resources, supports, staff, programs, and the priority of public education. If not those of you who are closest to the needs of schools and students, then who?

WHO ELSE IS AT THE PARTY?

- There is a lot of competition for a legislator’s attention and for public resources.
- There are nearly 1,000 registered lobby groups in Iowa: business organizations, farmers organizations, unions, utilities, builders, civil liberties groups, lawyers, cities and counties, colleges and universities, home schools/private schools, textbook companies, testing companies, hospitals/health care groups, law enforcement, environmental groups, insurance companies, bus builders, truckers, religious groups, nursing homes, media, alcohol distributors, gaming institutions, gun owner groups, gun control advocates, hunters, PETA, anti-tax organizations, and many more.
- As often stated, quoting David Lyons, former Iowa Insurance Commissioner, “If you’re not at the table, you’re on the menu.”

BASIC ADVOCACY CONCEPTS FROM JOEL BLACKWELL, “THE GRASS ROOTS GUY”:

Mr. Blackwell says that so few people actually engage in the process, that those who do have disproportionate power. “If you can break through the social media noise and establish a good relationship, you can be one of those people.” Mr. Blackwell continues:

- “Our political system is not designed to decide who is right and who is wrong. It is designed to decide who has the majority.”
- “If you can’t prove that lots of people are with you, you will fail.”
- “There are no right or wrong positions in politics, just decisions made by human beings for good reasons or bad reasons, or out of indifference.”
- “If you have the votes in the legislature or Congress, you’re right. If you don’t, you’re wrong.”
- “No political decision is permanent; the fat lady never sings.”
- “All things being equal, politicians will go with the flow. Your job is to create the flow.”

THINGS TO REMEMBER ABOUT ADVOCACY

- Your opinion matters. Lobbying isn’t just for the professionals. The process is better when more voices are involved.
- Don’t be intimidated. Be impressed with the building, the history, the institution, but don’t be intimidated when speaking to an elected official. It’s their job to represent you, so they work for you. The only way they can do that is if you tell them what’s on your mind.

- You likely know more details about the subject you're discussing than the legislator. But don't worry if you're not an expert; do the best that you can and suggest more specifics can be answered by your UEN Legislative Advocate or others.
- Don't ever be afraid to say you aren't sure of an answer, but volunteer to find out the answer for the legislator.
- Follow up on anything you promise. Keep your UEN Legislative Analyst in the loop and ask for help with next steps.
- Remember advocacy efforts aren't just during the legislative session. Advocacy is a year-long process. Focus on creating a long-term relationship to increase your influence.
- Keep your communications and requests concise. And always put it in writing for them.
- You can't say "thank you" enough. Thank you for running or serving, thank you for listening to our concerns or ideas, thank you for considering or voting for or against.

ADVOCACY ACTION STEPS

Steps to advocate successfully.

STEP 1 – KNOW YOUR LEGISLATORS (WHO)

Find out who represents you and their core values and positions on issues. Learn about their background. Build a relationship.

STEP 2 – KNOW YOUR PRIORITIES (WHAT)

Establish what's most important to your district. What is it you want to happen? Learn about how much will it cost and what's involved in a solution? What are both sides of the issue and the pros and cons? Look to UEN Issue Briefs and Calls to Action for details.

STEP 3 – KNOW YOUR DATA (WHY)

Why is the issue important? What is the impact to your district and to your legislator's constituents? Prepare to be direct about the issues, using layman's terms, explain the issue and why their action is necessary on behalf of the students in your school.

STEP 4 – PREPARE YOUR ASK (WHAT DO YOU WANT THEM TO DO)

Prepare for what you want the legislator to do. Be specific about your "ask" (vote for or vote against). Keep it short and simple, concise and to the point. Use the language of your legislators' core values. Be positive, don't be critical of others when making your case.

STEP 5 – USE UEN RESOURCES

It's always a good idea to make sure you're on the right track with another set of eyes on your Message Worksheet (from page 38). Get access to already prepared resources and make sure you have current data and talking points around your issue. Check out UEN's Legislative webpage for tools and key messages.

STEP 6 – CONTACT YOUR LEGISLATOR AND MAKE THE ASK

Be sure to illustrate the impact of the solution. Ask for a commitment. If they disagree, listen to their position and keep channels of communication open. Follow up in writing afterward.

STEP 7 – FOLLOW UP

Say thank you. Be persistent and consistent.

STEP 8 – ASK FOR HELP

Your UEN Analyst is available to answer questions, connect you to resources, provide feedback on your plan, or help you reply to your legislators.

HOW TO ENGAGE WITH LEGISLATORS...AT THE BOARD TABLE

APPROVE YOUR DISTRICT'S PRIORITIES AT A PUBLIC MEETING

Be deliberate about what is important to your district by having a discussion at the board table and taking action on your district's priorities. Share those priorities with UEN.

COMMUNICATE YOUR PRIORITIES

Send a press release or write a letter to the editor of your local paper. Share your adopted priorities with all of your legislative representatives. Communicate why they are important.

MAKE ADVOCACY A PRIORITY

Assign a lead individual for each district priority, or for each advocacy organization, to closely follow issues and report back to the board throughout the year. Consider including advocacy and building legislator connections into board/administrator job descriptions. Ask for advocacy updates in the regular superintendent's report or include an advocacy agenda item during your board meeting.

RECRUIT ADVOCATES

Build an advocacy team at your district or delegate that action internally. Determine who else cares about your issues and recruit advocates such as a Community Legislative Action Team (CLAT), or Legislative Advocacy Action Team (LAAT), and engage with parent groups, student groups, and community stakeholders, Chamber of Commerce, Retired Teachers Association, etc.

PARTICIPATE IN THE PROCESS

Share UEN Calls to Action with your board members and administrative team, participate in Calls to Action from home and Lobby Days at the Statehouse, and create conversation opportunities at home.

RECOGNIZE YOUR LEGISLATORS, PERSONALLY AND PUBLICLY

Send your legislators thank you notes or emails personally, but also thank your legislators publically during public meetings or send letters to the editors or post on social media recognizing their efforts.

THINGS TO REMEMBER

- Strive for balance (whether or not you have balanced representation). Invite both sides and ask balanced questions.
- Prepare them for success – never try to sandbag or trap them. Share questions and concerns in advance so they are prepared to respond.

HOW TO ENGAGE WITH LEGISLATORS...AT THE STATEHOUSE

REMEMBER THAT LEGISLATORS HAVE MANY RESPONSIBILITIES

A normal day for legislators during the legislative session begins at the Statehouse around 8:30 a.m. but many of them begin earlier with receptions and meetings before the start of business. Their days are filled with debate in the House or Senate chambers, caucuses (which are not open to the public), committee meetings (which are open to the public), and many receptions, demonstrations, and discussions. Members of the public can observe a committee meeting, but can only speak when the committee chair has invited comment or committee members vote to allow someone from the public to speak.

The schedules for each day are listed on boards in front of each chamber on the second floor of the Capitol. The House Lobby Lounge (to the right of the House Chamber) includes television sets with scrolling subcommittee and committee meetings. Subcommittees are also taped to a bulletin board in the Senate Lobby Lounge (to the left of the Senate Chamber).

Subcommittees are one place where democracy happens at the Iowa Statehouse. Generally, members of the public are invited to provide their opinions of the legislation on the agenda, can bring written information, or speak and/or ask questions about a bill. If you are visiting the Statehouse, ask your UEN Legislative Analyst if there are any subcommittee meetings on the day's business that you should observe, or even provide testimony at, if you are willing.

Each legislator has a desk on the floor of the House or Senate Chamber, and each legislator has a clerk that helps them keep up with daily paperwork. They can help you locate your legislators if they are not available when you send in your notes. The best way to reach a legislator if you don't have a previously scheduled appointment is to go to the door of the House or Senate Chamber. Even if you have a scheduled meeting, be patient and remember that legislators may be delayed and are not always in control of their own schedules.

GO TO THE HOUSE OR SENATE CHAMBER

Both Chambers are located on the second floor of the Capitol. The House is on the north side and the Senate is on the south side. If you face the Law Library from the middle of the second floor, the House is on your right and the Senate is on your left.

SEND A MESSAGE TO YOUR LEGISLATOR THROUGH THE DOORKEEPER

The public is only allowed in the chambers when they are with a legislator, and only after they get permission from leadership, so don't just walk into the chamber. You should fill out a "slip" and send it into your legislator through the doorkeeper. The slip is yellow for the House, and pink for the Senate. They are located at tables directly in front of each chamber entrance.

The slip includes space for you to fill in your name, the name of the legislator you wish to contact and their SEAT NUMBER (not to be confused with their district number). Legislators are listed alphabetically on a sheet of paper located on the board above the table, just outside of the Chamber entrance. The paper also lists legislator seat numbers.

If you are part of a group, just fill out one slip and indicate "a group from ___ school district" or "High School Principal Mrs. Smith and 10 students from ___ school district".

Circle the option called "waiting to see you." It is also good to write on the note where you are from (for example, Jane Doe of Belmont, Iowa) so legislators know if you have come a long way to see them. Also, include your cell phone number so they can reach you before you leave the building if they cannot see you immediately.

Hand the slip to the doorkeeper and wait for a response. Sometimes it may take your legislator 10-15 minutes to come out. (They may be finishing up a call or conversation before coming out to talk to you.)

If your legislator is not available or not in their seat, a page or doorkeeper will come back out and call your name. You may need to listen closely as the rotunda can be loud. If your note does not come back out, it means your legislator was there and will be out soon to talk to you.

Sometimes a staff person will come out to speak to you if the legislator is occupied. Be polite and treat this staff person as you would the legislator — a lot of times the staff person is a friend, relative, daughter/son or spouse of the legislator.

Be prepared and be patient. The Capitol can be noisy and crowded, and you may feel jostled if the crowd that day is particularly large. If you're bringing a group, it's always a good idea to let the legislator know in advance (and let your UEN Legislative Analyst know as well so we can support you).

GENERAL ETIQUETTE & REMINDERS

Don't be nervous, legislators are there to represent you. Use the legislator's title (Senator or Representative) as if it's their first name. Clearly identify yourself including your name, position, and school district. Be brief, focusing on one or two issues. Always be courteous, thanking them for their support or consideration. Be clear about what you are asking them to do: Will you consider supporting this issue? Will you vote against this bill? Send them a follow up. See more details and our Message Worksheet on page 38 of this Handbook.

LEAVING MESSAGES

If your slip comes back out and your legislator is not available, take the time to write a short "sorry I missed you" note that states very briefly the issue you wanted to talk to them about. It's okay to continue writing on the back of the note if you run out of room. You can leave an Issue Brief or written explanation of your issue along with the note.

Circle the option "Has Left the Following Message", send the note back and ask to have it left on their desk. Be sure to mark the time of day and date that you left the note.

Write something like:

"I was here today with ___ School District and wanted to talk to you about ___." And "...I will email you information about the issue." or

"...I live in [city] and would like to take a few minutes today while I'm in town. I will be here until [time]. Should you be available, please call me on my cell phone at 555-555-5555."

CONNECT WITH THE GOVERNOR

The Governor's formal office is on the 1st Floor of the Statehouse. You can arrange in advance for your group to visit the Governor in her office. If she's not available or you did not schedule in advance, you can leave a note in her office with your contact information and background on an issue. The Governor is very fond of connecting with students and will strive to make time in her busy schedule if you plan ahead.

CONNECT WITH THE IOWA SECRETARY OF STATE

The Secretary of State's Office is on the first floor of the Statehouse across from the Governor's Office, next to the replica of the U.S.S. Iowa Battleship. If High School students are with you or people new to Iowa, they can register to vote and take a quick tour of the Secretary of State's office during your visit.

HOW TO ENGAGE WITH LEGISLATORS...FROM HOME

GENERAL LEGISLATOR CONTACT INFORMATION

Individual legislator contact information including photo, email, cell phone, home phone, home mailing address are typically posted on the Iowa Legislative Website. Lookup your legislators at <https://www.legis.iowa.gov/legislators/find>, then click an individual legislator to find their personal information. Emails can be sent to the Governor through the Governor's website at www.governor.iowa.gov/contact

MAILING ADDRESSES

Write to your individual legislators at:

Senator ____ or Representative ____
State Capitol
Des Moines, Iowa 50319

Use "Dear Senator Last Name" or "Dear Representative Last Name"

Write to the Governor at:

Governor Reynolds or Lt. Governor Gregg
1007 East Grand Avenue
Des Moines, Iowa 50319

Use "Dear Governor Reynolds" or "Dear Lt. Governor Gregg"

PHONE NUMBERS

Call your legislators at the Capitol:

Senator Switchboard: (515) 281-3371
House Switchboard: (515) 281-3221
Governor's Office: (515) 281-5211

Leave a specific message such as, "This is Jane Doe from the Happy Valley School Board. Please support HF 1234 on today's calendar. Call my cell phone at (555) 555-5555 if you would like to discuss."

Use your legislators' home or cell phone number to call them on weekends or when the legislature is not in session. Use the Message Worksheet on page 38 prior to your call to help you stay on message.

GENERAL TIPS

- Phone or email is generally preferable for urgent issues, while mail is generally preferable for thank you notes or more detailed background information.
- Be sure to always identify yourself and your role at the district, and let them know you are a constituent in their district.
- Reference Bill Numbers and Bill Name when possible (ask your UEN Legislative Analyst for assistance as bill numbers change throughout the process).
- Always thank them for considering the issue, taking your call, or for their leadership.

USING EMAIL EFFECTIVELY

More legislators are accustomed to communicating via email today than ever before. It is a good idea to check with your legislator early in the process to see how they prefer to receive information and to confirm that email is OK, or perhaps they would prefer a text message. As they may receive hundreds of emails or text messages a day, always identify yourself in the subject line: with something like “Request from Jane Doe, Superintendent from __ CSD, regarding vote on SF 123 today.” Make sure you include your email address for a reply.

Start with a thank you, include your “ask” (what you want them to do), and provide some background justification. You can use key messages provided by various associations that are asking for your timely action, but if you have time, personalize them and provide local district examples.

If things are time-sensitive, you can call the House or Senate Switchboard and leave a message, directing them to your email or text. If time allows, you can also print a copy of the email and drop it in an envelope addressed to them at the statehouse, just to make sure they received it. If you have a group in favor of a position, include a “cc” on the email to others that will also be able to chime in or show the broad support of your issue.

When sending email during the school day in particular, some legislators are very sensitive to the perception of the sender's time, whether they are on the clock or using school resources to communicate. Although advocacy is part of an administrator's or board member's job description, you can avoid any ill perception by using a personal email address. Again, just confirm with the legislator before the session starts if they have concerns about which email address you should use and behave accordingly.

Lastly, always use a respectful tone in email and text messages. Be aware that anything you put in writing could wind up on the front page of the paper.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Local media coverage matters, as legislators know that civically engaged voters often read the newspaper. Short letters to the editor encouraging support or defeat of a particular bill, with two or three sentences on why it matters for students or taxpayers can be very effective. Recruit a few others to follow-up with another letter to the editor agreeing with your letter. Cut out the article and write a note on it, and send it to your legislator through the mail. You can also do this with information that is celebrating a student or school success or highlighting an issue that needs their support or attention. Ask your UEN Legislative Analyst for assistance in drafting letters to the editor or strategies to build media coverage or support.

MEETING VIRTUALLY

Invite your legislator to a Zoom meeting (or virtual platform of your choice) to discuss your district's priorities or a key piece of legislation. Invite others from your district who can chime in and give everyone a specific issue or talking point to communicate, or just ask them to listen and provide support. Have a brief agenda and specific time commitment (if it's 30 minutes, stick to that timeframe and be prepared to schedule a follow-up meeting to continue discussion if necessary). Start with introductions, thank the legislator(s) for their time and service, and stick to the agenda. Listen closely for follow-up needs or next steps. End with a thank you. Send an email or written thank you note as well, including thanking them for their specific commitment made to take an action.

HOW TO ENGAGE WITH CANDIDATES...BEFORE AN ELECTION

IDENTIFY THE CANDIDATES

A listing of candidates running for an upcoming election can be found on the Iowa Secretary of State's website at <https://sos.iowa.gov/elections/candidates/index.html>. Select Primary, General, City or School for the respective election.

SEND THEM A NOTE

Thank them for running for office. Offer to be an educational resource for them. Wish them good luck or ask to meet and talk about their vision for education. Communicate and build relationships with all candidates.

SIGN UP FOR THEIR EMAILS/NEWSLETTERS & CONNECT WITH THEM ON SOCIAL MEDIA

Find links to sign up for newsletters on the Iowa Legislative webpage for each legislator.

FIND OUT WHO ELSE SUPPORTS THEM

Check each candidate's social media pages or website for endorsements. You can also find a listing of those that contribute $25 or more to a candidate's campaign on the Iowa Ethics and Campaign Disclosure Board (IECDB) website at <https://webapp.iecdb.iowa.gov/PublicView/search.aspx?d=statewide>. Type in the candidate's last name or a PAC or party name. (You may need to search more than one report to find a complete list.) You can search the results by city or name to find those that donated from your community that may help you build relationships with the candidates.

CONTRIBUTE TO A CANDIDATE'S CAMPAIGN

You can contribute to a candidate's campaign in many ways. You can volunteer to make phone calls, stuff envelopes, distribute flyers, or hold a virtual or in-person meeting. You can share relevant information on educational priorities or serve as a resource to answer their questions. You can also donate personally to their campaigns. A $25 donation or higher lists you as a donor on the IECDB reports. Just for your information, a $100 contribution is a large personal donation for most local elections.

HOLD A MEETING WITH THE CANDIDATE

Meet over Zoom, over coffee, or at the local diner or ice cream shop. Make introductions. Exchange contact information. Learn something personal about them such as where they went to school or if anyone in their family served in education. Share your district's legislative priorities and give them an Issue Brief (or two) or another handout on your most important priorities. Ask them about their education priorities and what committees they want to serve on if elected.

SHARE YOUR CONTACTS WITH YOUR UEN LEGISLATIVE ADVOCATE

Always share information about your legislative contacts with your UEN Legislative Advocate. We are here to support your continued connection.

HOW TO ENGAGE WITH CANDIDATES...AFTER AN ELECTION

SEND THEM A NOTE

Congratulate them on being elected. Offer to be an educational resource for them to answer questions. Offer to review legislation for them and share the impact of proposals on your district, staff and students.

SHARE YOUR DISTRICT'S PRIORITIES

Share your district's priorities with them right away so they can share them at their caucus. Also, school funding is supposed to be decided within the first 30 days of the release of the Governor's budget, so focus on school funding issues first.

SCHEDULE ANOTHER FACE-TO-FACE MEETING

Although one-on-one meetings are good, consider a joint effort with other school leaders in the legislator's district. Or, include a School Board Member, Administrator, Teacher, and Student. Reach out to your UEN Legislative Analyst for resources before the meeting so you are well prepared. Make introductions. Exchange contact information. Learn something personal about them such as where they went to school or if anyone in their family served in education. Share your district's legislative priorities and give them an Issue Brief or two on your most important priorities. Ask them about their education priorities and what committees they want to or will serve on. Consider taking a photo to use on social media or send to the local paper summarizing the meeting. Follow up after the meeting with a thank you and copy of the photo.

COMMUNICATE REGULARLY

Communicate regularly with your legislators. Let them know the impact of proposals on your local district. Prepare local resources, facts, and figures. Contact your UEN Legislative Analyst for information.

SHARE YOUR CONTACTS WITH YOUR UEN LEGISLATIVE ADVOCATE

Always share information about your legislative contacts with your UEN Legislative Analyst.

FINDING COMMON GROUND

ASSUME THE BEST IN YOUR LEGISLATORS

Your legislators are learning about and making decisions on hundreds of bills each year, making it difficult to keep track and know all the details about every issue. Give them the benefit of the doubt and assume they are doing their best to do the right thing.

FIND COMMON GROUND

Remember that most Americans have more in common than the current political environment may lead you to believe. According to Phillip Boyle, Local School Board Governance, 2004, public decisions involve choices and public choices always involve values. Core Values such as:

- Liberty: freedom, autonomy, choice, opportunity, individuality, privacy;
- Community: safety, security, belonging, social order, quality of life;
- Equality: fairness, justice, tolerance, diversity, equal treatment, equal opportunity; and
- Prosperity: productivity, efficiency, growth, markets.

FOCUS ON CORE VALUES

Which of those Core Values is critical to any particular policy choice? Which of these Core Values is central to your legislators' framework? Tie your district's priorities back to these Core Values by translating your needs into their language. For example:

Prosperity/growing the Iowa Economy:

- Investments in PK save tax dollars down the road (prevention is worth a pound of cure or efficient use of tax dollars).
- Quality schools prepare a quality workforce (prepared graduates become tax contributors rather than tax consumers).
- What does it take for a quality teaching workforce in Iowa? Sufficient salaries and benefits to compete for human capital.

MESSAGE WORKSHEET / PREPARING FOR YOUR CONVERSATION

Before you meet with your legislators, use the following Message Worksheet to help you develop your message and talking points. Have it in front of you during the meeting or call. Use the bottom portion to take notes during the discussion.

YOUR ISSUE/STORY (IN 50 WORDS OR LESS):

UEN RESOURCES TO HELP

ISSUE BRIEFS

UEN Issue Briefs summarize an individual issue providing data, statistics, and talking points. These are a great resource to take with you to meetings with your legislators and share with your advocacy teams.

WEEKLY UPDATE REPORTS AND VIDEO

The UEN Weekly Update Report and Video are typically distributed each Thursday evening during the legislative session summarizing the actions that took place that week and issues anticipated for the upcoming week. Designed to keep you updated on legislative activity with a quick read or under 10-minute video view.

CALLS TO ACTION

Calls to Action alert members when issues pop up requiring timely advocacy (such as adequate school funding, the priority of school funding in the budget, opposition to vouchers or elimination of desegregation plan open enrollment regulations, etc.). These are indications that it is time to reach out to your legislator via phone or email on an urgent matter. Share these with your board, administration, and advocacy teams.

UEN WEBSITE

All of the resources mentioned here, and more, are posted on the UEN website for quick access by members at www.uen-ia.org.

SAMPLE LETTERS TO LEGISLATORS OR LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Your Legislative Analyst is here to help you draft or edit letters to your legislators or letters to the editor on issues important to your local district.

LEGISLATIVE DIGEST

Produced annually, the UEN Legislative Digest is a summary of all of the details and legislative actions that took place during the most recent legislative session impacting Iowa schools. Find it on the UEN website at www.uen-ia.org.

NUTS & BOLTS OF POLICY

HOW AN IDEA BECOMES A LAW

A legislative bill is a written proposal for a law. Ideas for bills come from many sources: a legislator, two or more legislators, a legislator's constituents, businesses, government agencies, professional associations, interest groups, and other state legislatures. When a legislator recognizes or is made aware of a problem that could be pursued through legislation, that idea is put into the form of a bill.

Bills may be sponsored by a Senator or Representative, more than one Senator or Representative, or by a Senate or House committee. Bills may also be proposed by the Executive Branch, Governor's Office, and Judicial Branch for legislative sponsorship. When a bill is introduced by members of a legislative chamber, it must follow a process and, if passed, be sent to members in the other legislative chamber, where this process is repeated.

All bills must be approved in identical form by both the Senate and the House before being sent to the Governor for final approval.

BILL DRAFTING

The staff in the Legal Services Division of the Legislative Services Agency (LSA) provides legal and legislative research services necessary to draft a bill. This may include reviewing current Iowa Code provisions, locating relevant publications, or reviewing other state and federal laws pertaining to the subject matter of the draft. After the information is drafted into bill form, the drafter sends the bill to the legislative sponsor(s) for approval, and then the bill is prepared for bill introduction and floor debate.

INTRODUCTION

After the bill draft is completed by the LSA, it is returned to the sponsor for review and filed with the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the House, who assigns the bill a number. The bill is reviewed by the Senate or House legal counsel's office, and most often on the following day, the bill's number, title, and sponsor's name are read to the Senate or House. The President of the Senate or Speaker of the House assigns the bill to a standing committee for review.

STANDING COMMITTEE WORK

A standing committee is a group of legislators chosen by the leadership of each chamber to examine bills relating to a specific subject area. Once a bill is assigned to a committee, the committee chairperson appoints a subcommittee. The subcommittee, usually composed of three members of the standing committee, reviews the bill in detail and reports its conclusions to the full committee. The full committee then discusses the subcommittee's conclusions and makes recommendations to the entire chamber. The committee may recommend passage of the bill, passage of the bill with amendment, referral of the bill to another committee for study, review, or postponement of the bill indefinitely, or to send the bill to the floor for debate with no recommendation.

CALENDAR

A report of the committee's recommendation is sent to the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the House, who will place the bill on the regular calendar, which lists bills that are eligible to be debated. The Majority Leader is responsible for deciding which bills on the calendar are debated and in what order; then the bills are brought up for consideration by the chamber ahead of the other bills listed before them on the calendar.

DEBATE

After the committee completes work on the bill, the subcommittee's chairperson usually becomes the bill's floor manager. The floor manager's job is to present the bill to the chamber and follow the bill's progress during debate, when members discuss and may propose amendments to the bill. Amendments are adopted by a simple majority of the Senators or Representatives voting.

A debate allows discussion about the bill on the chamber floor. It also breaks down key issues within the bill.

When debate on a bill is finished, the bill's title is read aloud to the chamber for the last time. This tradition of reading the bill's number and title originates from the early days of the Legislature, when bills were read in their entirety to the members since printed copies were not available for everyone. If a constitutional majority (at least 26 Senators or 51 Representatives) votes to pass the bill, the bill moves to the other chamber. If fewer legislators than a constitutional majority vote to pass the bill, the bill fails. Votes on bills and amendments may be reconsidered on a motion by a member who voted on the prevailing side of the issue. If the motion to reconsider is approved, a new vote is taken on the bill or amendment. If the bill is then approved by a constitutional majority vote and all motions to reconsider are cleared, it is delivered to the other chamber.

SECOND PASSAGE

Amendments adopted by the chamber of origin are incorporated into the bill before it is sent to the other chamber. As the bill follows its path through the Legislature, the procedure in both chambers is basically the same. A bill introduced in the Senate will retain its original Senate number as it travels through the House, and a bill introduced in the House will retain its original House number as it travels through the Senate. If the bill is further amended by the other chamber, the amended bill is sent back to the chamber of origin for approval. The chamber of origin can also amend the amendment. If the chamber of origin concurs or agrees with the amendment(s), the bill has passed both chambers in identical form and will be sent to the Governor for review. If the chamber of origin refuses to concur with the other chamber's amendment(s), the bill is returned to the other chamber, which may recede from or insist upon its amended version of the bill. If it recedes, the bill is sent to the Governor; however, if the chamber insists upon its amendment(s), a conference committee is appointed to work out the differences.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE

Conference committees are composed of Senate and House members representing both the majority and minority parties and both sides of the issue in dispute. The 10 members of a conference committee are appointed by the Senate Majority Leader and Senate Minority Leader and the Speaker of the House and Minority Leader of the House to study the points of disagreement between the chambers in an attempt to reach a compromise. If an agreement is reached, it is presented to both chambers in a report that contains the compromise version of the bill. The report cannot be amended by either chamber. If the report is rejected by either chamber, a second conference committee may be appointed. If no agreement is reached, the bill fails. If the conference committee report is adopted, the chambers again vote on the bill. If the bill is approved, it will be enrolled and sent to the Governor for review.

ENROLLED BILL

Final preparation of a bill before it is sent to the Governor is called enrollment. When both chambers have passed the bill in the same form, it is prepared with all approved amendments incorporated. After the bill is enrolled, the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House sign the enrolled version, and the Secretary of the Senate or Chief Clerk of the House certifies that the bill originated in that chamber. The bill is then sent to the Governor for final action.

GOVERNOR'S ACTION

Bills passed by the Legislature must be reviewed by the Governor. The Governor takes final action on all bills passed by the Iowa General Assembly. The Governor has three options: sign the bill, veto the bill (or item veto an appropriations bill), or take no action. In the case of a veto, the Legislature may override the veto with two-thirds of the members of each chamber voting to reconsider and pass the bill a second time. If, during session, the Governor does not sign or veto a bill, it becomes law after three calendar days. Bills received by the Governor during the last three calendar days of session must be signed or vetoed within 30 calendar days.

The Governor has the option to use three types of vetoes: the veto, item veto, and pocket veto. The veto indicates the Governor's disapproval of an entire bill. The item veto may be used only for bills that appropriate funds. It strikes a specific item of an appropriations bill. A pocket veto occurs when the Governor fails to take action within 30 calendar days on a bill received within the last three calendar days of session. The entire bill fails to become law. When the Governor vetoes or item vetoes a bill, a veto message explaining why the veto was made is delivered to the chamber of origin with the bill before it is filed with the Secretary of State. The Legislature may override the veto if two-thirds of the members of each chamber vote to pass the bill again. The Governor's veto messages can be accessed on the Iowa General Assembly website in the "Enrolled Bills" section and on Billbook.

IOWA LAW

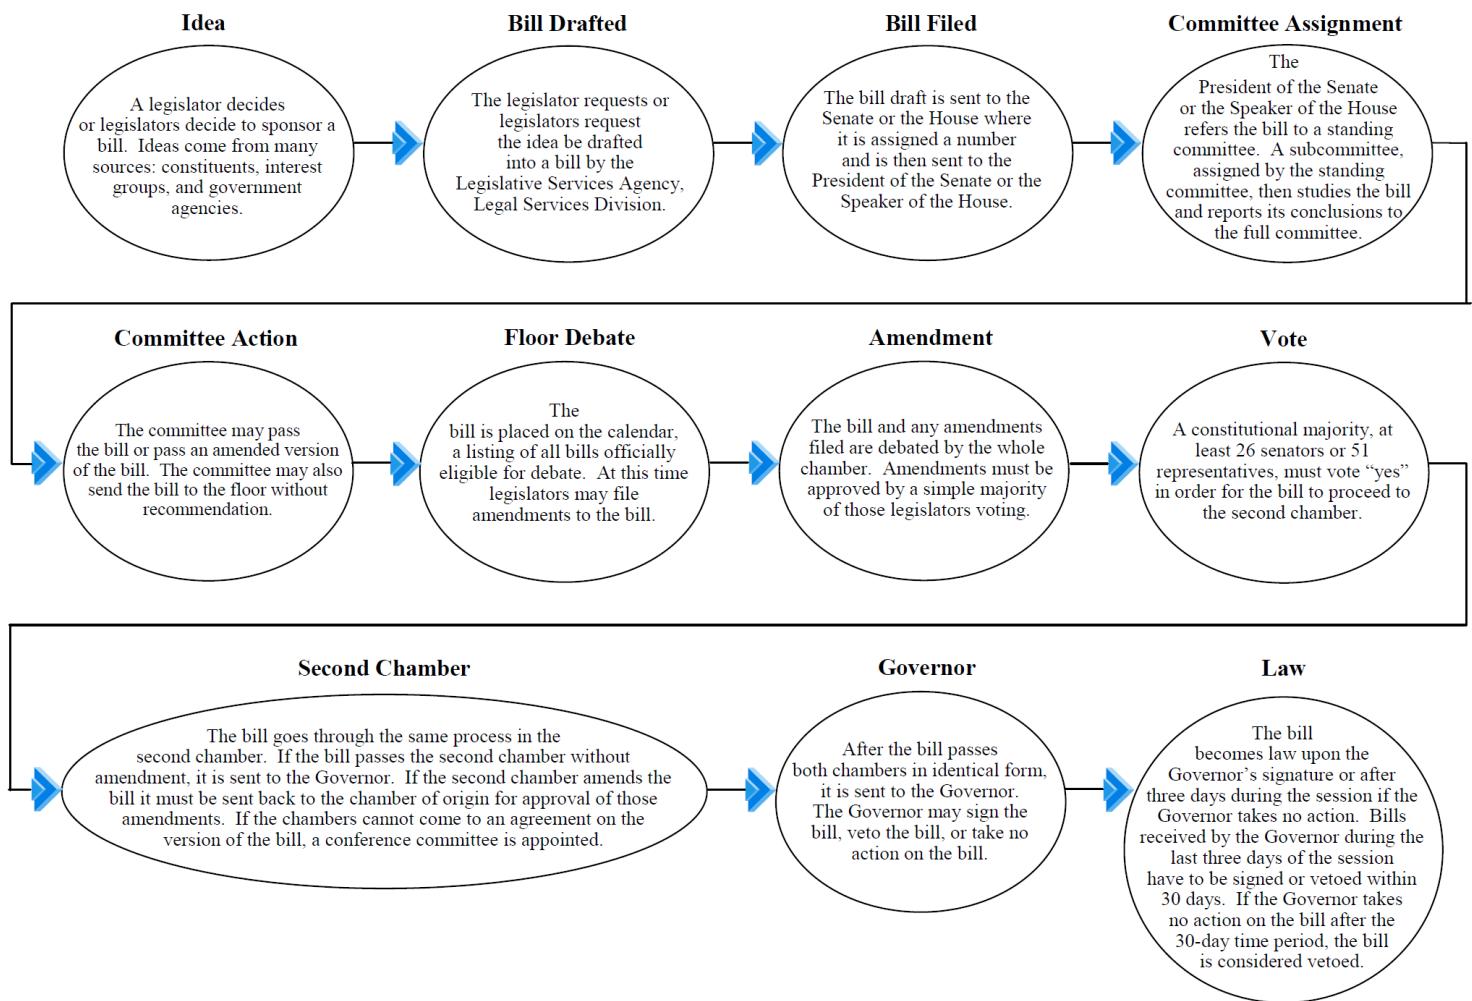

After the bill is signed by the Governor or is passed by the Legislature over the Governor's veto, it is sent to the Secretary of State, who is the custodian of original copies of all bills enacted into law. Bills normally go into effect July 1 following their approval, unless another date is specified in the bill. Bills passed by the Legislature before July but signed by the Governor after July 1 typically become effective August 15.

The enacted bills are then printed in the Acts of the General Assembly, published after each legislative session. The portions of the enacted bills that are laws of a permanent nature are incorporated into the Iowa Code, a compilation of Iowa laws published every year in electronic format and every other year in print by the Legislative Services Agency.
